

Indiana and YOU: A Free Indiana Studies Workshop

- Want help teaching Indiana Studies?
- Want 5-21+ Professional Growth Points?
- Want free lunch and free parking @ IUPUI?

Let's gather to build content, brainstorm ideas, and identify resources to help teach the new high school course entitled: Indiana Studies.

The workshop runs from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. on July 9, 10, and 11 in Indianapolis on the IUPUI campus. Sign up for one day ... or for all 3. You can earn as little as 5 PGP points, or as many as 21+. YOU decide! There is NO charge for this workshop

Each day has unique content featuring, lessons, activities, resources, speakers, and fieldtrips integrating civics, geography, economics, and history focused on Indiana topics.

Participants will have the opportunity to help build content for the free Indiana Studies app being developed to align with the new high school Indiana Studies course.

All grades welcome as much of the materials are adaptable, but focus will be on the new high school course. For information contact Liz or Kathy (below).

To REGISTER, send the following information to corg@iu.edu : name, preferred e-mail, school name/address, preferred telephone number, grade(s) you teach, subject(s) you teach

Elizabeth R. Osborn, Ph.D.
Project Director
Indiana University Center on Representative Government
201 N. Indiana Ave
Bloomington, IN 47408
eosborn@iu.edu

Kathy Lamb Kozenski
Executive Director
Geography Educators' Network of Indiana, Inc.
IUPUI CA 213/425 University Boulevard
Indianapolis IN 46202-5140
geni@iupui.edu

Indiana University Center on Representative Government

