

The Olin W. Davis Award for Exemplary Teaching of Economics

Supported by Indiana Farm Bureau, Inc. and Farm Bureau Insurance

Application Guidelines

Eligibility:

- One statewide winner will receive a beautiful plaque and prize of $1,000. Regional winners also will be selected and receive $500. Any elementary or secondary Indiana teacher may apply or be nominated. (Previous Olin Davis winners may enter after two years, but only work done subsequent to their last entry will be considered.)
- Award winners will be recognized by the Indiana Council for Economic Education and Indiana Farm Bureau/Farm Bureau Insurance at ICEE's Annual Awards for Excellence program.

Judging criteria:

- (70%) Special classroom projects in economic education. Provide a description of an economic-themed project or teaching unit. Include lesson examples and references for resources used in the project/unit. Economics teaching units that focus on personal finance, entrepreneurship, or globalization concepts are appropriate.
- (15%) Involvement in other economic education programs. List current and previous professional development in economic education. List awards, honors, appointments and/or other recognitions received for efforts to promote and enhance economic and financial education.
- (15%) Letter(s) of Recommendation. Letters may include a description of the impact that the featured project or unit has had on students, school, and/or the broader community.

Application procedure:

- Complete the ICEE Award Application form. (Please type or print.)
- Support material relating directly to the application is encouraged.
- Application must be received in the ICEE office by June 30.

About Olin W. Davis

Professor Olin W. Davis formalized the economic education programs at Purdue University in 1954. Under his leadership, economic education's sphere of influence grew to thousands of Indiana citizens. Professor Davis died in 1970. The programs of the Indiana Council for Economic Education (ICEE) are built on the foundation he established, and it is a fitting tribute to name this award after him.
